

eagles news

rising to a new way of living

March 2007

A picture of what Eagles Rising is about

This month, we have thought to give you a visual picture of what we do here at Eagles Rising, instead of trying to capture it in words. However, we would like to point your attention to four of last year's students who are preparing themselves to au pair overseas. Siya has completed a course in child care, along with the other 3 students, and is currently volunteering at a creche. It would be extremely helpful if she could be employed at a facility that cares for children to help prepare her for her year overseas. Or maybe you could sponsor her to continue working in Sir Lowry's Pass Village. Please let us know if you could help. The pictures of the Au Pair team are on the last page.

The streets where we grew up

Engaging with God in the prayer room

A balanced diet, a balanced lifestyle

Reaching out to Sir Lowry's Pass Village

Before and during renovations eagles rising

student adoption programme

I have people in my life who act as surrogate parents, filling the gaps where my own parents could not reach, however hard they tried.

I am surrounded by a community of caring people - some living very far away - who teach me how to do justly and love mercy.

The Au Pair team

